Consequences of displacement of people. Automatically displaced people have no choice than to start their lives all over again, especially if their livelihoods and businesses depended on where they used to be. When they are unable to get enough capital to start all over again, they tend to wallow in poverty.

Abstract. Violent conflict causes millions of people to flee their homes every year. The resulting displacement crises not only create logistical and humanitarian nightmares, these crises threaten international security and risk the lives of displaced people, aid workers, and peacekeepers. Despite the dangers posed by conflict-induced displacement, scholars, policy makers and international organizations usually have only a partial understanding of these crises.

~~Causes and Consequences of Conflict-Induced Displacement ...~~

Development-induced displacement and resettlement occurs when people are forced to leave their homes and/or land as a result of development. This subset of forced migration has been historically associated with the construction of dams for hydroelectric power and irrigation but is also the result of various development projects such as mining, agriculture, the creation of military installations, airports, industrial plants, weapon testing grounds, railways, road developments, urbanization, conse
